OUR CROOKS' INGRATITUDE.

To be or not to be a member of Harding's Cabinet is worrying Tobe Hert, the big Republican boss, and his associates in the Republican party just now, and all possible pressure is being brought to bear on the plums. But for reward of merit among the boosters the prize will have to be given to the Courier-Journal editorial writer of last Tuesday, the eulogy of Tobe in that article being the most effusive and rushing possible. It is said that Wallace Hughes, the go-between of the Hert and Bingham combination, was the author, and if so Wallace gets the brown derby. Here are just a few of the hot points at Tobe: "Appropriately associated with Charles E. Hughes and Herbert Hoover; "His presence in the Cabinet would be an asset to the next administration." "A man of marked administrative ability and a competence, he possesses withal a social gift and warmth of heart that have made him more than an ordinary figure." "For clean government in the soiled and selfish undercurrent of Kentucky politics, 'Politics not cultivated for gain but for doing public good.' The last about 'doing public good' will cause some to chuckle when they realize how Tobe and his company have monopolized the sale of road materials to county officials. The Jefferson County Commission, a Republican board, specifies that every road contractor must use 'Tarmac' in his work. 'Tarmac' is made and sold by Hert's company. And the Bingham press writer says Tobe isn't in politics for his own good.

The attitude of the Louisville Herald on Hert's ambition is an amusing one to those who understand. The machine organ would very much like to see the Republican boss given a Cabinet job, but hates like fury to see the Bingham press in the lead as boosters. If the lightning should strike the Courier-Journal, and Times will claim all credit and the G. O. P. organ would naturally resent this. Then, again, the Herald doesn't fancy the Republican boss moving away from Kentucky, where he has been the "meal ticket" who furnishes a big campaign for the year. The same applies to all the little fish Republicans who smack their chops every time Tobe's name is mentioned, as he is a synonym for campaign boodle. Among the ambassadors, foreign ministers and diplomats Kentucky's Republican boss would naturally forget the Republican politicians here, from "Howdy Ed" Morrow down to Abie Netter, and the big army of crapshooters and colored Republicans who follow the Hert banner. But we believe the separation is going to come the other way. If Tobe is not given the coveted honor he will naturally "sour" on the Republican party, and his interest in future campaigns, and the same cheap boosters that were bawling about Morrow as a Vice Presidential candidate are now making boastful claims for Hert and we'll all see the same result.

The next time City Attorney Joe Lawton or some other city and county official addresses the Optimist Club or similar organization we hope some member will interrupt and ask for light on the Escott investigation. Immediately after Smith was inaugurated he announced with a flare of trumpets that he was going to hire James S. Escott, expert accountant, to investigate the offices of the Democrats who had just vacated. The Louisville Herald applauded Smith's move and in an insinuating and insulting editorial said:

"From time to time there have been rather ugly stories about the condition of some of these offices. The true facts in this connection should be ascertained and given to the public. If there has been abuse of public trust no individual should be shielded. The responsibility should be placed where it belongs."

That was in December, 1917, just a little over three years ago, and from that day to this not a single word has been issued in regard to Escott's investigation. If the Democratic officials were examined by Escott's investigation, the report should be made public for the benefit of the taxpayers and as an act of courtesy to these former office holders who were the victims of innuendo by the new Mayor and the Herald. But above all, what did that investigation of Accountant Escott cost the taxpayers and why is there no report made?

Now for the next chapter. The Courier-Journal announced Thursday that after a conference with the Home Telephone Company officials James S. Escott, accountant, would examine the phone company's books and report on its financial condition. Now comes the question again. Will Inspector Escott withhold his report from the taxpayers as before or is he still employed on investigating the Democratic officials? Will the city or the Telephone Company pay Escott's expenses? Every taxpayer and citizen knows that investigation by expert accountants is a costly item, so we are going to suggest that someone propound this question to Smith or City Attorney Joe Lawton, who is now an official spokesman. What did the Escott investigation cost the city, what was his findings and who will pay the phone company investigation? As for the question of the new charter grant, the correct information is herewith freely given. The Telephone Company will be allowed to raise its rates although now prosperous. And Smith and his associates who oppose a raise for the Street Car Company will advocate the phone raise.

We are sorry to report that all is not joy serene in the ranks of the "reform" administration. At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen Tuesday night Aldermen Gnan, Will, Wilson, Kirwan and Veil all showed a little peevishness in discussing the street car raise, and slurs about being an "interested stockholder" and "free trips" at the company's expense were mentioned out loud. Outside the railing a delegation from the lower board was presented by those two distinguished statesmen, Nick Denunzio and Jake Leasac, all taking pot shots at the Aldermen who favored giving relief to the Street Car Company. These same leaders do not explain why they voted unanimously for the Phone Company gouges, and the company didn't need relief either. Another source of discord in the "reform" is the jockeying for nominations this summer. Jaffer Barr has been thrown to the wolves and he and his friends are talking right "nasty" about the Hert-Bearse-Child machine. County Clerk Fred Neutzel, who was a little shaky in the good graces of the machine leaders, sealed his doom this week in the printing case. The charge of Republican County Commissioner Baskin that Neutzel refused to even let Democrats bid on printing supplies which the taxpayers pay for has made his candidacy impossible. Voters of all parties will resent that and we wonder if County Clerk Neutzel refuses to let any but Republicans pay taxes. Chas. is looking for Neutzel's successor right now. Chief Petty, Paul Burlingame and their followers refuse to accept the peace terms with Sheriff Ross and trouble is cropping out in that quarter again. What a pity that all of these men chosen to reform us should fall out on the question of political life. 'Tis sad, indeed.

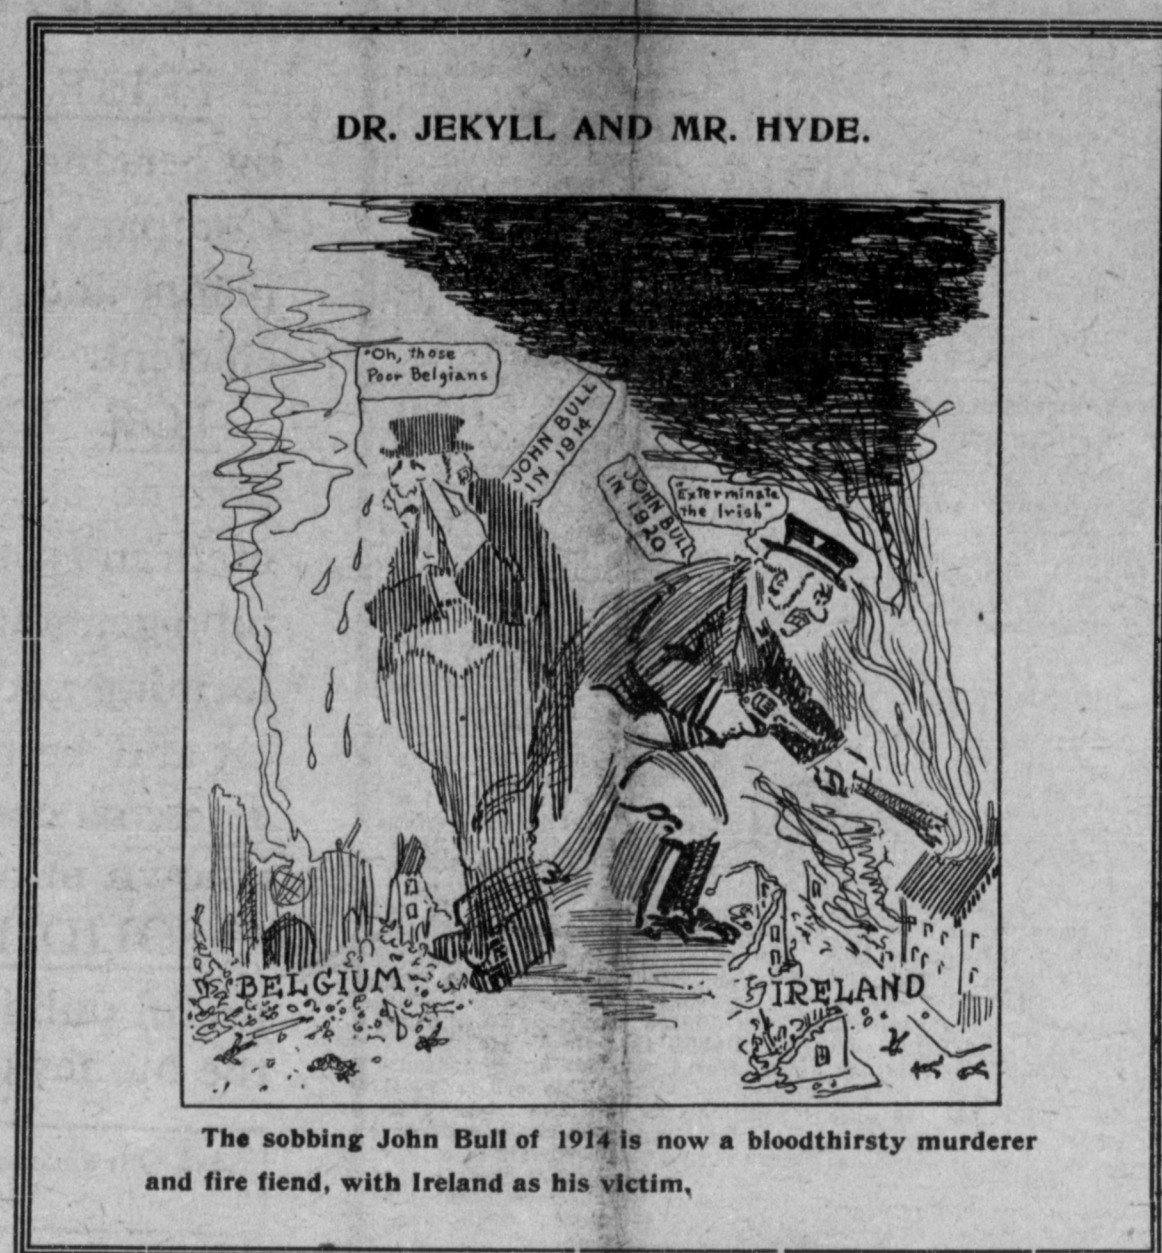

Sharper than the sting of a serpent's tooth is the sting of ingratitude. Here we have an administration of these men chosen to reform us should fall out on the question of political life. 'Tis sad, indeed. The attitude of the Louisville Herald on Hert's ambition is an amusing one to those who understand. The machine organ would very much like to see the Republican boss given a Cabinet job, but hates like fury to see the Bingham press in the lead as boosters. and Now.

Brutal Bloody Campaign Carried On

EARN'S EPITHET OF "HUN."

The burning of Cork recently was denied by the British authorities, but their lying was exposed after investigation by the committee from the British Labor party. Stung by widespread criticism, Lloyd George and his followers began a ruthless policy of destruction and murder in Ireland, culminating in the deliberate burning of seven homes near Middletown last Sunday. The residents were given one hour to remove their belongings and valuables and then with the homeless women and children standing by these brave (?) British troops set fire to the houses. It is significant that the British military authorities do not deny this outrage as in the burning of Cork, but proudly issue a military bulletin telling of their crime.

Discussing these reprisals of the British Government in Ireland Arthur Brisbane says: "When the German army marched into Belgium, Belgian citizens here and there shot German soldiers from ambush. As 'reprisals' for these acts the German military authorities shot and burned a certain number of Belgians and burned a certain number of buildings—chiefly in the city of Louvain. Everybody outside of Germany condemned these cruel reprisals, but nobody so loudly as the British did. Pages and volumes were written to expose the indignation of the world. The whole body of British writing men was put to work to describe and denounce these 'atrocities.' The German soldiers and the German people were pictured as savage 'Huns,' not fit to associate with decent civilized peoples. And nobody was louder in denunciation or exhibited more horror of these reprisals than Lloyd George, Balfour and Sir Edward Carson.

Yet at this very time in Ireland British soldiers and police, under the authority of Lloyd George and Balfour and Carson are killing and maiming men, women and children, are burning public buildings, factories and private homes, and maintaining a reign of terror, intimidation, arson and massacre which at least equals (if it does not surpass) anything that the Germans were charged with doing in Belgium. And this same British Government accuses the brutalities and atrocities of its soldiers and police in Ireland upon the same ground that the Germans excused their soldiers and police in Belgium—upon the ground of 'reprisals' for the deaths of British soldiers and policemen shot here and there by Irish citizens.

There is no pretense that the men, women and children brutally killed by the soldiers had any hand

FARMERS

Suggestion That Catholics Take
More Interest in Agricultural Products.

Conference and National Board Meeting Adopts Numerous Important Plans.

Legitimate Endeavors Directed Towards the Attainment of Desirable Ends.

DIRECT MARKETING IS URGED.

The suggestion that Catholics, particularly Catholic farmers, take a more active interest in the farmers' movement and in the under-standings of farmers, has been repeatedly made, partly for the direct reason that, in their larger economic and social programs, such organizations should obtain the benefit of the Catholic thought on basic principles and demands. An excellent though neglected opportunity for such attendance and demonstration of interest was presented by the Conference of the National Board of Farm Organizations recently held in St. Louis.

Approximately 100 delegates representing sixteen national and a number of State and local farmers' organizations, in forty States, were in session and there submitted suggestions and formulated plans of the farthest reaching import for the betterment of the lot of the farmer, and in a measure of the consumer of farm products. While a goodly portion of the deliberations and discussions was of an educational character, substantial results were arrived at by the decision to take practical steps for the elimination of speculation in farm and garden produce, of unnecessary middlemen for the extension of rural credit, and for the direct marketing of certain products. Among the larger and more significant undertakings of the conference was the plan, approved by the conference, of creating nine terminals for the handling of grain, (wheat, corn, oats, rye). The proposal was not only voted on favorably, but an expert marketer and organizer was appointed to perfect the organization and machinery for the consummation of this project. Omaha, Sioux City, Minneapolis, Kansas City, East St. Louis, Chicago, Oklahoma and the Pacific Coast were named as points or sections in which it will be the mission of the organizer to create farmers' terminal elevator associations and to open elevators, while he and the other members of the committee in question are also to organize the farmers of the corresponding territories who are to feed these elevators.

The plan provides that local co-operative elevator associations be established wherever there is need of them, and that the existing associations of farmers having elevators be brought into line. The advantages of direct marketing as outlined are evident, provided the plans are carried out intelligently and with due deliberation; one effect should be the elimination or curtailment of speculation; the avoiding of dumping grain on the market at harvest time, with a consequent cheapening of the product later by an increase in price. This means the stabilizing of prices, which should redound to the benefit of producer and consumer alike. As indicated, this one plan of the conference is outstanding in its significance and import and should produce far-reaching results. The conference did all in its power to assure its realization even to settling a time in the near future for a second meeting of the Grain Committee and members vitally interested in the marketing project, and to securing for the expert and the committee the funds necessary for initial and some subsequent needs. It is evident from this brief sketch of the transactions that the conference "meant business." Other branches of rural activity besides grain marketing received serious attention, though no such far-reaching plans were adopted for the marketing of live stock, of cotton, of sugar beets, of tobacco, of dairy products, of fruits and vegetables, of wool. The deliberations resulting principally in recommendations for the establishment of a larger number of warehouses, the granting of credit on stocks in warehouses, and the avoiding of marketing under unfavorable conditions. It is also significant of the attitude of the delegates that they adopted a resolution opposing the Procter and Gamble plan, adopted by the United States Senate, taking from the workers engaged in interstate and international commerce the right to strike or even to advocate a strike or walk-out, thus going on record in support of labor, of the freedom of public discussion, and of the "unassailable individual and collective right to strike" under certain conditions.

These facts may suffice to suggest the importance of the movement represented by the conference and the purpose of the bodies having delegates in attendance; they may also serve to draw to the attention of our Catholic farmers the desirability of co-operation to such a degree as is prudent. The movement can be gauged at its proper significance only if one realizes that the leaders and many of their interested followers are not adversely disposed towards the abolition of the capitalist system, and the setting up in its place of a system based on the principles and practices of co-operation. Of course the movement will go on its way regardless of participation or non-participation by Catholics, but it seems to us that Catholic farmers and those interested in their welfare are missing an opportunity for co-operating with legitimate endeavors directed towards the attainment of desirable ends, and for shaping and guiding these endeavors in a manner compatible with sound social doctrines. It is a fact that there are farmers' organizations which Catholics can not be advised to join. But this can not mean that they should stand aloof entirely. If we are the salt of the earth, we must perform the functions assigned to us.

TAKE CARDINAL HOME.

Cardinal Gibbons was brought home from Union Mills on Monday, reaching the archiepiscopal residence in a motorcar about 12:30 o'clock. He was reported to have stood the forty-mile journey without discomfort and "to be fine." His two doctors and his secretary accompanied him, and two other machines bearing friends, including Bishop O. B. Corrigan, also accompanied him. Decision to remove the Cardinal was reached Sunday at a consultation of the doctors at the Shiner home, Union Mills, where the Cardinal has been staying for the last four weeks. The news had a cheering effect upon the aged churchman, it was said. He admitted that, while he enjoyed the quietness of his home, he was homesick. The ban on visitors was lifted temporarily Sunday to permit the Cardinal to receive the priests of his household. They were with him only a few minutes. Three old-time friends of the Cardinal also were allowed to give him their New Year's greeting. The Cardinal passed a comfortable night, and his condition was virtually unchanged, reports from his bedside said.

BISSELL-JONES.

The marriage of Miss Katherine Bissell, of New York, and Lawrence Jones, Jr., of this city, was solemnized Thursday in St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, the Rev. William Martin officiating. Mrs. Laurence Bissell was the bride. The bridesmaids were Miss Louise Jones, Louisville, sister of the bridegroom; Misses Sheila Byrne, Helen Pierce, Adelaide Beddall and Betty Hauck, all of New York. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jones, Miss Louise Jones, Messrs. Saunders, Jones, Warner Jones and Barnett Jones left Monday for New York to attend the wedding.

SAINTS DOWN PURPLE.

St. Xavier won a hard fought basketball victory over High School Tuesday afternoon at the former's gym by the score of 24 to 21. The game proved to be one of the closest and most thrilling battles ever played between the Purple and the Green and Gold warriors and from start to finish neither side possessed more than a four point lead at any time. Although the High School lads were a bit heavier than the St. X. boys it gave them no advantage for the passing and teamwork of the latter more than made up for their weight deficit and as they were keener shots than High School and found them on top.

K. OF C.

Plans For National Activities Are Announced by Secretary
McGinley.

Will Continue Educational Work,
Night Schools and Lecture
Bureau.

Washington's Birthday Will Be Appropriately Celebrated by Fourth Degree.

GEN. FOCH SENDS GREETINGS.

Plans for the national activity of the Knights of Columbus for 1921 are announced in a statement by William J. McGinley, of New York, Supreme Secretary of the organization, following a meeting of officers and directors held in Chicago. In his statement Secretary McGinley declares that the principal public activities of the Knights during the past year comprised the continuance of their educational work and employment bureaus, and the maintenance of college scholarships for former service men, the gift to France of the K. of C. Lafayette statue, the K. of C. pilgrimage to Metz and Rome, the raising of a privately subscribed fund for Cardinal Mercier, of Belgium, and the holding of more than 1,200 anti-radical open forums in the United States and Canada. In addition the Knights maintained welfare work for service men in Paris, Venice, Constantinople, Spalding, Hawaii, the Canal Zone and Alaska, the Philippines, besides active co-operation with Herbert Hoover.

During the year 1921 the Knights will continue the multifarious activities of their 2,000 subordinate councils in local charities and civic movements. The national organization will concentrate its energies on K. of C. educational work as exemplified in the nation-wide chain of free night schools, the scholarships for former service men and the extensive lecture bureau work covering the United States and Canada. One hundred new schools are planned for the year 1921, to accommodate, in all, 150,000 men. Resumption of the peace-time patriotic work of the Fourth Degree of the K. of C. will be among new activities. Washington's Birthday will be appropriately celebrated by Fourth Degree assemblies throughout the country.

Having placed practically all former service men applying to them for employment, the National Council will, in 1921, relinquish that work to local bodies of the organization. It is probable that this year will witness the opening of the K. of C. welfare club in Rome and the commencement, in the event of acceptance by the American Legion, of the great five-million-dollar national memorial building in Washington, D. C. The K. of C. will continue their anti-terrorism investigation and work during 1921.

Marshal Ferdinand Foch, of France, cabled New Year's greetings to Supreme Knight James A. Flaherty of the Knights of Columbus. In response to greetings forwarded to the head of the French army by the Board of Directors of the K. of C. "France wishes America and the Knights of Columbus a year of unexampled prosperity," Marshal Foch called. "I am proud to have pilgrimages to France in 1920, showed us that the heart of America was with us. I look forward to the joy of seeing you and your Knights again during this new year."

Formal presence of the Cross of the Legion of Honor and other decorations awarded to officers of the K. of C. by France will be made by Ambassador Jules Jusserand in the near future. Supreme Knight Flaherty states that the Knights were preparing a rousing welcome throughout the country for Marshal Foch when, as he promised the Knights on the occasion of the dedication of the K. of C. Lafayette statue, he visits the United States this year.

CEMETERY OPENING.

Following a meeting of the Catholic Cemetery Committee, composed of Rev. J. P. Cronin, of St. Mary's, E. Willett and Rev. John Hill, announcement has been made that the new Catholic cemetery situated on the extension of Baxter avenue, which was formerly known as the Newburg road, directly opposite Shady Lane, will be known as the New St. Louis cemetery, and the first lots in it will be sold in the early spring. Complete plans for the cemetery, including the construction of a mausoleum, a fence around the entire property, chapel and the necessary offices and waiting rooms, have been prepared by D. X. Murphy & Bros., architects and engineers. At the present time more than a mile of the main road through the cemetery has been completed. Three sections, comprising more than 500 lots, already have been fully surveyed, and plans call for the extension of the roads into the cemetery and into lots as rapidly as the lots in the sections already surveyed are sold. A system of sewers for drainage purposes and water mains and hydrants for sprinkling already have been installed. Bishop D. O'Donoghue in 1911 saw that in a few years the Catholics would need additional room for cemetery purposes and purchased the ground in the cemetery about to be opened from the Barr estate and from Henry Tyler.

AN INSULT.

The constant mention of Mary Pickford, alias Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, as "Our Mary" is an insult to the American people at large. A movie actress who has taken part in the questionable divorce case that the Pickford woman has should not be put forth as the American people's favorite type of actress. What a far cry from her to Mary Anderson Navarro, who originally was known as "Our Mary" and was a credit to herself and the stage.

SHOCK TORIES.

The official bulletin of the British military authorities acknowledging that they had deliberately burned the Tory press and pro-English in this country. Heretofore the British Government has pursued the policy of trying to convince the public that the Irish themselves set fire to their own homes and places of business. Now John Bull pleads guilty to his crimes and tells the civilized world that it is none of its business. Let's hear from the sob writers who used to rave over the horrors of Belgium and the suffering Armenians.

MUCH GOOD WORK.

Few Catholic laymen have accomplished as much good for religion and the fellow men as did J. J. Farrell, of Augusta, founder of the Catholic Laymen's Association of Georgia, whose untimely death was a shock and sense of loss throughout the South. Mr. Farrell saw the need of meeting the torrent of calumny poured out upon the church in Georgia, one of the most bigoted States in the South. He began the work in a small way by sending out refutations of calumnies to papers that published them. The need of organization became apparent, and Mr. Farrell took up the work. The result was the most complete organization of Catholic men in the country. The Georgia organization is a pattern for other States where organization is needed.

CALUMNY THAT RECOILS.

Arraignment of the British Government for its atrocities in Ireland by the report of the British labor commission which investigated conditions on the spot is the most telling condemnation yet made of the British Premier and his methods. Will it have any effect on the cynical Welshman who is chiefly responsible for the atrocities? We doubt it. Lloyd George is a shameless scoundrel who approves of murder without blinking an eye and who lies to try to cover up his villainy. One of the striking features of the labor report is its characterization of the attempt to hold Sinn Fein responsible for the burning of towns as unreasonable and stupid. No one believed this charge—not even Sir Hamar Greenwood, who made it. It was a stupid calumny that recoils on the men responsible for it.

DON'T STOP SHORT.

We hope that when the Knights start out to call to account legally the Ku Klux Klan fomenters of religious calumny and discord they will not stop short in their prosecutions. In the past, their policy was to refuse to insist upon punishment of the offenders once they had admitted their guilt. Practically this was an invitation to others to take up the lucrative occupation of baiting the Knights of Columbus. They had nothing to lose and everything to gain by spreading their calumnies at so much per copy. The Knights succeeded in exposing some of these scoundrels; but as far as we know not one of them was adequately punished. We trust that the soft-hearted and soft-headed policy will be abandoned for one that will teach a salutary lesson to the offenders and that will deter others from imitating them.

A JUST PROTEST.

In these days of un-Christian tendencies and the studied efforts to sneer at everything religious people of all religious beliefs will heartily agree with the protest of the Methodist Episcopal Board, which says: On the stage and in motion pictures the Protestant minister is sold, made a fool of, and an object of derision. The members of the Protestant churches are exhorted to be liberal, to take humor as humor and be slow to wrath. But the members of the Roman Catholic Church do not tolerate such treatment of their priesthood, which is always represented on the stage and elsewhere in a most favorable way and whose religion is treated with consideration. The Catholics are to be commended. The time has come also when Protestants should not tolerate any other than courteous treatment of their religion and ministry.

CHASING AN ILLUSION.

Press dispatches tell us that at an interdenominational church conference in Boston last week Bishop William Lawrence, of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Massachusetts, pleaded for church unity that would include the Roman Catholic and Eastern churches. To the True Voice it appears his plan is based on the Lambeth conference in England which suggested the interchange or ordination through which one church would recognize and accept the minister of another in administering the sacraments. But even among the Protestants to whom he spoke the Bishop's plan was not received with unanimous favor. Bishop William Hughes, of the Methodist Episcopal church, who presided, declared that he would not take another ordination "for a million dollars," even from Bishop Lawrence. We suspect that representatives of the other Protestant denominations present were also averse to receiving ordination from the Protestant Episcopal church, which—as a matter of fact—has no orders to give. That fact was determined after an impartial investigation in Rome a quarter of a century ago.

If Bishop Lawrence and his confederates entertain the hope that the Catholic Church will interchange ordinations with them they are chasing an illusion. If they hope to bring about church unity in this way they may as well cease their efforts at once. It can not be done. The Catholic Church can make no compromise with error, nor does it recognize the ordination which Bishop Lawrence thinks he has. Moreover it will refuse to reordain him unless he submits himself to the authority of the church and the Roman Pontiff. He may dream all he pleases about church unity, but he is on the wrong road in his present course. The Catholic Church desires unity just as strongly as Bishop Lawrence can, but she is not cherishing any illusory hopes in regard to it. If those who are now outside the Church want unity with the Catholic Church, they know how it can be secured. The door is open for them. Let them come in.

WORSE THAN SAVAGES.

From accounts that have been published in the papers one might suppose that Ireland is waging war against the British army of occupation in Ireland. That is not the case. The Irish people are defending themselves as best they may against the attacks of an unscrupulous body of mercenaries that has been turned loose on them by the British Government. War is being made upon Ireland in the worst possible form. Civilized warfare has regard for the lives of non-combatants, women and children. But in the war that is being made on Ireland by the mercenaries of Lloyd George even these have not been spared. Are the Irish people justified in defending themselves? No one can deny them the right of self-defense. And no one can deny that the ruthless mercenaries now running amuck in Ireland have placed themselves beyond the pale of civilization. They are worse than savages.

CARDINAL GIBBONS.

Though in the course of nature his long career must be nearing its close Cardinal Gibbons' illness causes widespread and deep regret through the country. Few Americans of his generation have so completely won the hearts of their countrymen. His life as a Bishop spans a half century; he was the youngest Bishop at the Vatican Council and is the only survivor of that historic gathering. Wednesday morning inquirers were told that the Cardinal had passed the best night since his illness, that he was much improved and that his condition was very promising.

NEW YEAR THOUGHTS.

All through this year,
God, make me hear
Thy voice! And let Me pay my debt
To Thee with love!
And grant I show
Men how below
That rarity,
The charity
Of Christ above!

Nearer the tomb!
The grave's the womb,
Whence we emerge
Into the surge
Of Eternity.
What waits us there?
Oh, may we share,
Around the Throne,
And with God's own,
His Paternity!

—Thos. P. Hart.

ENOUGH.

There are enough of effective organizations of the Irish race in this country working for the recognition of the Irish Republic. The most important thing is that all of them work together and not get the wires crossed.

FAREWELL MESSAGE.

Eamon De Valera, President of the Irish Republic, whose return to Ireland has been confirmed by cablegrams from Dublin, left the following farewell message to the American people:

"Land of the Free and Home of the Brave," farewell! May you ever remain, as I have known you, land of the generous-hearted and the kindly. May you stand through time as they would have you who love you—liberty's chosen champion; and oh! may you never know yourself the agony of a foreign master's lash.

"I came to you on a holy mission, the mission of freedom. I return to my people who sent me, not indeed as I had dreamt it with the mission accomplished, but with a message that will cheer in the dark days that have come upon them and that will inspire the acceptance of such sacrifices as must yet be made.

"So farewell! young, mighty, fortunate land. No wish that I can express can measure the depth of my esteem for you or my desire for your welfare and your glory. And farewell the many dear friends I have made and the tens of thousands who, for the reason that I was the representative of a noble nation and a storied appealing cause, gave me honors they denied to princes—you will not need to be assured that Ireland will not forget and that Ireland will not be ungrateful.

"EAMON DE VALERA."

ARRIVES IN IRELAND.

All doubts as to the whereabouts of Eamon De Valera, President of the Irish Republic, were set at rest Monday, when telegrams from Dublin confirmed the report that he had landed in Ireland. All London work- ed up keen interest Saturday in the whereabouts of the elusive head of the Sinn Fein and all the London newspapers had squads of reporters on the trail. Doubt that De Valera actually had succeeded in crossing the ocean and giving the ship to Scotland Yard and the British secret police gave place to a general belief that the "President" had come back just as mysteriously as he had gone to the United States. Word came from Dublin that De Valera was in Ireland and was hiding somewhere near the capital. This was followed by intimations that the Irish President was in communication with his foremost aids and would, in a day or two, take the leading part in the four papers which have been proceeding with the British Government through several channels.

Sinn Fein sources in Ireland sent word that De Valera had been in Erin for more than a week and this was linked with the declaration that there seems to be ground for the belief that the Sinn Fein is formulating final peace proposals for presentation to the British Government. The Irish office took official cognizance of De Valera's movements, and a lengthy telephone communication was held with Dublin Castle. The office, it is believed, was making an effort to secure some light on the President's whereabouts. The Irish office admitted that De Valera would be placed under arrest on a technical charge on sight, but it was added that if certain guarantees are forthcoming he will not be molested.

The Dublin correspondent of the Star says that a tremendous sensation was created by news of De Valera's return.

Many inquiries were made at Dublin Castle during the day, and it was acknowledged that the British officials are without adequate information as to the present whereabouts of the Sinn Fein head. There was a minority of opinion that De Valera actually is still in the United States, the reports of his return having been circulated to conceal his real activities.

Mrs. De Valera, who was found at her home at Greystones, County Wicklow, and she professed no knowledge of her husband's whereabouts. "At least, I know nothing so far," she said with a smile.

The Rev. Father O'Flanagan, who has been acting President of the Sinn Fein in the absence of Arthur Griffith, who is in Mount Joy jail, is in Dublin, but whether he has been in communication with De Valera is not known. He refused to give any information when approached on the subject. It is understood he is being shadowed by Scotland Yard detectives.

"We have no information of De Valera's whereabouts," it was announced at the office of Arthur O'Brien, President of the Irish Self-Determination League and Sinn Fein ambassador in London. Several of the newspapers direct attention to De Valera's threat to repeat Terence MacSwiney's hunger strike if he is arrested. This threat was made some months ago.

New York dispatches say all voting members of the Irish Parliament, Dail Eireann, who have been in this country were reported Saturday night to be either on their way home or preparing to start to join their chief, Eamon De Valera, President of the Irish republic. The reported recall of the legislators and the probable return of De Valera to Ireland is said to be due to a meeting of the Irish Parliament within the next thirty days to reach a decision on policy that may seriously affect the future activities of the Sinn Fein.

An Investment In Modern Physical Properties

IT IS EASY TO VERIFY THIS STATEMENT

by personal inspection. A large proportion of the Company's physical property is new. All of the plants and systems under operation are highly efficient.

FOR EXAMPLE, take the Watersine steam turbine electric power station. This is a strictly modern source of power production—boilers, turbo-generators, condensing equipment and transforming and switchboard apparatus all of the latest and best types. Fuel is mechanically handled. The coal comes in the Company's steel cars from its own mines at Echols, Kentucky.

SOLID, ENDURING Properties, dedicated to useful public service are tangible evidence where the money of the investor has been put to work.

1 quart warm potato water
2 heaping tablespoons sugar
1 heaping tablespoon lard

1 level tablespoon salt
3/4 cake compressed yeast
3 quarts Aristos Flour

Dissolve yeast, sugar and salt in water. Add lard to Aristos Flour. Make into a dough, and after greasing dough on top, put aside and let stand for five hours (which is termed proofing.) Then press dough down and let stand again from one-half to one hour, according to temperature. Now fold dough into loaves without kneading, and let them stand three-fourths to one hour before baking. ### CARDINAL IS CHEERED.

Cardinal Gibbons was cheered greatly New Year's night by a message of sympathy received from President Wilson, and it was reported at the home of Robert T. Shriver at Union Mills, where he has been confined during his illness, that he was much improved over his condition the preceding day. The message sent by the President's secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty, to Bishop Owen B. Corrigan was as follows:

"The President has learned with sympathy and distress of the Cardinal's illness, and hopes that he may very soon hear of a decided turn for the better."

The Bishop had the message telephoned to the Cardinal's secretary, the Rev. Albert E. Smith, at the Shriver home, who transmitted it to the Cardinal. The Cardinal awoke Saturday morning from a refreshing sleep "feeling like a new man," according to Father Smith. He spent the day quietly but pleasantly with no alarming sinking spells and with nothing to excite him. No visitors were allowed to see him.

The President received a telegram in reply from Cardinal Gibbons which said:

"From my sick bed I send you my heartfelt thanks for your solicitude in my regard, and I pray God may bring you every blessing in this new year."

FAREWELL MESSAGE.

Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney, widow of the late Lord Mayor of Cork, sailed away from America New Year's day, carrying to Eamonn De Valera, President of the Irish Republic, a message that "all is well" among the sympathizers with his cause in this country. This message to the Sinn Fein leader was sent by his secretary, Harry Boland, who announced that he had landed in Erin to direct the Irish fight for independence, after spending fifteen months in the United States. Several hundred sympathizers surrounded Mrs. MacSwiney as she entered the pier to go on board the steamship Panhandle State, bearing aloft the three-striped banners of Ireland's Republic. New York's fighting Sixty-ninth Regiment band serenaded her and the crowd sang Irish airs. Nine little girls dressed in green, orange and white escorted Mrs. MacSwiney up the gangplank and into her stateroom, fragrant with roses sent by many admirers. The widow of Terence MacSwiney, who died in Brixton prison, London, came to the United States several weeks ago to testify before the Committee of One Hundred investigating affairs in Ireland. Saturday she said the expressions of sympathy she had received in America had carried sunshine "into the very depths of the sorrow" brought by her husband's death. In a farewell message she called upon America "speedily to relieve the devastation of Ireland and help it to stand by your side, a free and independent nation."

"TOO BAD AND TOO SAD."

The Rev. Father Charles B. Schrantz, President emeritus of St. Charles College, a Catholic institution near Baltimore, has refused to join in a celebration and banquet in his honor, prepared by the Sulpician priests on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination, because he said, "I will not join in any celebration as long as there are starving children in Europe." Because of his attitude the celebration was abandoned although Bishops and priests were expected from all over the country and 1,000 priests who had been under his instruction wished to make a formal avowal of their gratitude. Father Schrantz said the times were "too bad and too sad" for the celebration of even a golden jubilee.
